

Hogarth At Home

HOGARTH'S HOUSE

Outside with Hogarth - Get Outside!

William Hogarth was an artist 300 years ago. His art was inspired by the outside world.

The streets of London were very noisy then and they still are today!

It is difficult to show noise in art.

This is Hogarth's print about how noisy London could be.

How many things in the print do you see that make noise?

Your turn!

When outside or on a walk, listen for noises. Make it a sound walk!

Can you hear...?

insects buzzing cars driving by people laughing

birds singing music playing a baby crying

people talking a phone ringing
a dog barking

Talk about it.

Which noises make you feel happy?

Are there some noises you don't like?

Why is it difficult to represent noise in artwork?

How could we represent the noises we hear outside in our art?

Challenge! Can you create art that represents noise? Ask an adult to tell us on social media using #HogarthAtHome