

The Hogarths and their Home - Get Outside!

William Hogarth was an artist who lived 300 years ago.

Here he is with his dog, Trump.

He made art about things he cared about like: being kind to children, animals and other people

He helped people see ways they could help others.

Think about it.

What things have you seen other people do to help others recently?
What could you do to help others right now?

Your turn!

A mood board is a collage of ideas.
Create a mood board of your ideas to help others.

Think it.

You can include:

- drawings
- key words
- poems
- lists
- pictures
- colours

Do it.

You are ready to get out and put your ideas into action!

Remember to keep your social distance and stay with an adult when helping others.

Challenge! Can you work with others to help people? Ask an adult to tell us on social media using #HogarthAtHome
